

CAREER NEWSLETTER

STORIES FROM FALL 2009

THIS ISSUE

1 Your Source for Jobs & Internships
Intern Finds Her Inner (wax)MAMA

2 Changing the World, One Middle Schooler at a Time
Horsing Around
A Star (and Internship) is Born

3 Happy Camper
Music to her Ears
It All Adds Up

4 Employers Recruit at Queens
Spring Events
Contact Information

Your Source for Jobs & Internships

Even in a tough job market, Queens University of Charlotte's College Central Network (CCN) and our weekly Jobs List email newsletter seems to have no shortage of full time, part time, or internship positions available for our students and alumni. Launched in August 2009, CCN is our free online job and internship posting website. Convenient and easy to use, CCN offers our exclusive Queens Alumni Mentor

Network, as well as hundreds of free career videos, articles, and tips! All students have been pre-registered and can connect to the website using <http://www.collegecentral.com/queens/>. The Access ID is your Student ID and the password is Royals. To get the weekly Jobs List, email your name, class year, and qmail address with "Jobs List" in the subject line to Allison Martin at martinab@queens.edu.

Intern Finds Her Inner (wax)MAMA

Jill Jacobs blazed a trail for future Queens interns this Fall as our first student intern for WaxMAMA, a brand new website and email newsletter for women in Charlotte. It all started with a notice posted in College Central Network, the Queens online Internship and Job Website: WaxMAMA Intern Wanted. Intrigued by the name, Allison Martin included the internship as a last minute addition to her weekly Jobs List email newsletter. Jill Jacobs, referred by a friend after a disappointing internship search this summer, was checking the Jobs List for possible fall semester internships. WaxMAMA caught her eye, and the rest is history:

Courtesy of Jill Jacobs

"I applied for it immediately. As a journalism major, an internship that allowed me to do interviews and write blog posts was right up my alley. I also liked that it was directed towards women in Charlotte, and that it had to do with food, shopping, and nightlife." Following an interview over coffee, editor and founder Brooke Gibson made Jill an offer she couldn't refuse. As an intern, Jill has written blog posts, attended launch party events, promoted the publication at the Southern Women's Show, and gained "a ton of hands on experience" to add to her portfolio.